Monterey's Hope For Its Sagging Pride

REDEVELOPMENT IN MONTEREY: The Custom House Project In The Face of Adversity. This artist's rendering envisages the pedestrian mall on lower Alvarado Street in Monterey which would be a feature of sophisticated charm in the environs of the Custom House itself, together with an unusual second-story walkway seen on the face of the building.

Part of the charm of the imaginary Carmelite is his curious indifference to the world around him. Because of this, when he does have occasion to peer beyond his ramparts he frequently fails to grasp the magnitude of what he sees or its implications for him.

This is why many imaginary Carmelites have maintained a steadfast disinterest in the Monterey Urban Redevelopment Project and its contest with the proposed Del Monte Properties-Draper Companies shopping center at the northern foot of Carmel Hill.

In the same way, they have largely ignored the magnitude or meaning of the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center at their back door. Except to shop there.

Each of these instances, however, represents an intense area of actual or intended development, each at least as large as the 45 acres of the business district of Carmel itself.

The Carmel Rancho Shopping Center extends over 54 acres. Del Monte-Draper Companies has 32 acres presently zoned and is seeking another 15, to create a 48-acre shopping complex minutes away from Carmel's front door.

The Custom House redevelopment project encompasses about 48 acres of downtown, waterfront Monterey. It is, however, more of an imitative than a competitive threat to Carmel. It is also somewhat unique in character as well as in situation, and does not succumb, upon examination, to treatment or contemplation as a shopping center.

IT IS DIFFERENT

Rather, it is an ambitious, frequently courageous and apparently imaginative attempt to regenerate an historically rich but tragically shabby section of Monterey. If it is accomplished, the electric effect on many of the other districts radiating from its periphery may generate enough healthy tissue to restore the sagging virility of business in Monterey. For, in fact, the redevelopment project is a sympathetic organ of one integrated and reciprocating system. It proposes to be a part of all of the human and civilized activities of a city, where not just shopping, but the living, breathing and believing of people can take place.

THE SYNDROME

It is improbable that the Del Monte-Draper shopping center, no matter how respectfully and earnestly conceived, can claim the same affinity or attachment. For by its very nature it is a thing unto itself, an independent cell of limited commercial purpose having only incidental, but always distinctly separate, relations to the community. And all indications, historical and specific, indicate that its success would be at the expense of the frail and venerable downtown Monterey business areas.

It is a pattern observable everywhere, these, outwardly creeping, more or less concentric rings of growth around cities, which leave behind a core of decadence, as a sad memorial to the restless and indiscriminate probing of competition.

The Custom House project, far from abandoning the drooping environs, would reconstitute them with a complex of multiple residential units, quality specialty stores, a department store, a competent parking garage, restaurants, an auditorium, and possibly a courthouse. And apparently, in Bernard Weinberg, the Urban Redevelopment Agency has found a man to do the job.

WEINBERG HIMSELF

In certain sections, the Philadelphia developer has been viewed with suspicion. It is unusual that he should be. His reputation is nationwide, his resources enormous, and his successes considerable. In Lancaster, Pennsylvania, he has completed a $20,000,000 project similar in many respects to the Monterey undertaking. Within two weeks he will receive a $50,000,000 contract for renewal of a section of downtown Philadelphia containing 1,200,000 feet of office space and 1,100 apartment units. He is presently engaged in completion of a $30,000,000 redevelopment in Memphis, Tennessee, which includes the complete relocation of famous Jefferson Davis Park. His accomplishments, and the imagination with which they have been carried off, do not suggest that he is an itinerant and unscrupulous speculator.

But Weinberg and his National Land and Investment Co. may not be able to accomplish his purpose unless the city is willing to give him the advantage of resolving a program without having to worry about the corrosion of competition wearing away a vital resource: a major department store as an "anchor" for the project.

THE BIG STORE

Weinberg's concern is real and realistic. In spite of some dispute on the matter, it is almost conclusive that no more than one department store will locate at present in this area, and then only in the most auspicious environment. If this were not so, some department store would already have been here on its own — and Del Monte Properties' inability to attract someone over the past five years, when it was trying to develop its site by itself, is eloquent testimony to this fact.

WHO'S IN CHARGE?

It is curious that Weinberg and the Urban Redevelopment Agency should be pleading with the city for a reasonable option to proceed. The agency is, indeed, an arm of the government, charged with accomplishing this very purpose. Yet, the city may frustrate it by letting competition run off with the prize. If it does, apparently the council is unperturbed by the problem of how the city will pay back the (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Wild Blow At Gnat Nails City On The Chops

BY LARRY ROSE

Last night, while swatting at gnats, a majority of the City Council slapped the city square in the face with a stinging blow that's going to leave some humiliating scars for everyone to contemplate.

The clip to the chops was accomplished with a short, three-vote jab that rejected the gas station overlay zone ordinance recently sent up from the Planning Commission after months of careful preparation. Mayor Eben Whittlesey, Councilman Francis Whitaker and Councilman Herbert Blanks voted against the measure, and the vigorous support given to it by Councilmen Frank Putnam and James Buffington, Jr., was to no avail.

This is no frivolous contretemps. Within ten minutes of last night's action, the Shell Oil Co., patiently waiting for several months with some fairly attractive plans for rebuilding a station at San Carlos and Fifth, had scrapped everything in sight. By Monday, they will file with the Building Inspector plans for a conventional, open-bay, sparsely landscaped unhandsome service station. And there is apparently nothing now standing in the way of the issuance of a building permit.

And that's only the beginning. Oil company representatives have been swarming the town for weeks, sniffing the air and waiting for the break. They didn't even have to fight for it; the council laid it right in their lap. It is safe to assume that within another thirty days at least two more applications for permits to rebuild existing stations will be filed and granted. The floodgates of ugliness, against which so much earnest effort was posed, have been summarily opened, and a painful reckoning seems inescapable.

Perhaps the most regrettable tragedy is that last night's action accomplished nothing constructive, when something constructive has been sought for years, both by service station interests and the City. Had the council some alternative in mind, the defeat of the measure would not have been so devastating. But the best that the prevailing majority could suggest was that the ordinance be sent back to the Planning Commission for further study.

First Motel Tax Returns Are In

The first returns are in on the Motel Tax. Figures for the first quarter's collection (October through December) show that the city received $13,564.45 from the one percent tax so bitterly opposed when enacted last year.

The figure appears to substantiate the city's anticipation of revenue amounting to something like $24,500 during the fiscal year ending this coming 30 June. The money was collected in 75 hotels, motels, apartments and lodging houses licensed so far.

The revenue is allocated to capital outlay projects or land acquisition embodied in the city's general plan. In the next budget, the Council is going to have to decide on the allocation of this money, a pie-cutting contest which should be attended by a lot of hungry participants.

NEW THEATRE PLANS PROPOSED

A new motion picture theater dedicated to intelligent and interesting programming is not to be denied Carmel. The project, which seemed washed out 30 days ago, when United California Theaters snatched a ground lease from beneath the feet of the developers, seems now destined for success at a new location.

This time there is no third party between the land and the principals, Tom Graff, Ed Dickinson and N. J. Pecora, and they have the site, on the east side of San Carlos, south of 7th Avenue, firmly tied up.

Plans for the 440-seat house will be before the Planning Commission (Continued on Page Sixteen)

ORGANIZATIONS

Kiwanis

At last Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Carmel Kiwanis Club, Jack Mahoney, lieutenant governor of Division 24, reported on the recent district meeting in Bakersfield, and spoke of Kiwanis work and objectives including foreign student exchange and the Monterey Peninsula's exchange scholars.

Understanding between peoples may eventually maintain world peace, Mr. Mahoney stated, adding that Kiwanis Clubs will be established this year in Rome, London, Paris, Stockholm, Japan and Mexico.

Camera Club

Padre Trails Camera Club will offer triple entertainment to members and visitors at tonight's meeting at 8:00 p.m. in the Carmel High School cafeteria.

Announcement of the winners in the contest on "People", with comments and showing of all slides entered, will be followed by a special instruction session on "Portraits," by William Shirey of Pacific Grove. Lastly, club members will show slides and prints under the title of "General Subject Matter".

Padre Trails Camera Club is open to amateurs interested in improving their photography, and welcomes visitors to any of its regular club meetings. Programs for the 1963 club year are now available in local camera stores in Pacific Grove, Carmel, and Monterey.

Town House

"The Philosophy of Station KRML" will be the topic on Wednesday's program at Carmel Foundation Town House at 3 p.m. A message from Sam Smith, owner; part of a live radio program; and a general discussion of the place of a local radio station in the community will also be included.

All interested persons are invited to attend the program and the tea which follows, and are asked to bring any questions about programming which they would like to ask.

Masons

Carmel Lodge No. 680, F.&A.M., will hold a special meeting on Friday at 7:30 p.m. to confer the second degree. Refreshments will be served. All master Masons and sojourners are invited to attend.

High Twelve

Carmel High Twelve Club will meet Friday noon at the Masonic Temple. "Around the World," a program of color slides, will be shown by George Decker.

All master masons are invited to attend.

SPORTS

For Greener Putting

August Nieto, chairman of the Lions Club putting green committee, reports that he is in possession of a letter of commitment from the Sea-Bell Sprinkler Co., signed by Charles Seaver, one of the owners, offering to donate the entire sprinkler system for the proposed putting green, in addition to the labor of installation.

This is a major cost factor in the construction of a putting green and Nieto believes Seaver is to be commended for his generosity and civic spirit.

Nieto has gathered most of the construction and material costs and will report to committee in the next few days.

BUSINESS

Monday will be the 50th birthday anniversary of one of our most infamous children: the income tax. With the adoption of the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution, the people of these United States told the federal government to "go to it." And it has.

The boundless enthusiasm of the tax collector and the legislator was never expected to garnish more than 10 per cent from any of us. But that was in 1913, and the tax was bringing the government $71 million. In 1961, it was bringing in $68 billion, and President Kennedy's hard-breathing tax reform bill indicates that the appetite is still unappeased, but gaining fast.

Per capita income in 1913 was $331; today it is about $2,400, an increase of about 8 times; but the happy child has grown like a glandular freak, outdistancing the income off which it forages by 500 times. Happy birthday.

Bigness Is Better

It is more or less quietly conceded now that California is first in population among the several states, some of whom couldn't care less, one way or the other. Here are some other California "firsts" over which practically nobody is threatening to riot: most snapdragon seeds, cymbidium orchids, almonds and purple vetch seed; most honeybees, most milk per cow, most freeways, most drivers, most cars, most auto repair shops; the biggest bank (Bank of America), biggest canner (Del Monte), biggest utility (PG&E Co.), biggest subsidiary of the world's biggest telephone company (Pacific Telephone), and the biggest natural gas distributor (Pacific Lighting).

Meanwhile, the contest over which state has the most poor taste sways irresolutely between New York and California, with an occasional bid from such faraway places as Iowa, Texas and Florida. But California, with the greatest potential and the biggest determination to capture this crown, must soon prevail. Or have you been in Los Angeles lately?

Phone Rates

Mileage charges for telephone subscribers in the Pebble Beach area will be eliminated on 11 March.

D. D. Muir, Pacific Telephone

Manager, has given notice that growth has made possible the rate change which will affect some 500 homes and provide savings which will vary from 25 cents to $6 per month for residence telephone service. As an example, Muir said homes in the Del Monte Lodge area will save $2.50 per month. Rates for long distance calls are not affected by the change.

To Groan About

The value of the plum which the merchant in Carmel contemplates at Christmas time is not mythical or exaggerated. The City has just received from the State Board of Equalization the quarterly sales tax returns for the October through December period, amounting to $42,500, which represents taxable retail sales of $4,250,000.

Not only is this figure—which does not reflect service and professional charges, amongst others—encouragingly high, it is above 1961 by a whopping 9%, or $3,500; and almost 20% over 1960, when a gross taxable business of $3,800,000 was indicated.

Such information as this makes the annual woeful groan of the business community not altogether convincing.

Snyder Declares

Extensive and persistent speculation about Richard Snyder's intentions to run for re-election as a trustee of the Carmel Unified School District were stilled yesterday afternoon when Snyder declared an intent to file his papers this weekend. Snyder's entry into the contest probably presages a lively campaign. Three seats are up, and five candidates are now seeking them.

present educational program. He is frankly disappointed that the voters were not given a choice of either a 75 cent or 50 cent override tax. "Had the choice been mine, I would have allowed them to select," he says.

He made up his mind to run after debating the time demands and the frequent frustrations of the positions.

"My aspirations seem frequently to exceed the possibilities. But I want to keep trying."

Override Tax

The fifty-cent, five-year override tax, as expected, has carried with an almost 4-1 majority. Of 1,998 (26 per cent) votes cast, there were 1,591 "yes" and 407 "no". The light turnout featured a high of 30.3 percent of the voters in Carmel Highlands and a low of 21.7 percent of the voters at Sunset School.

Trustee Election

Friday, 1 March, will be the last day upon which a candidate for the Carmel Unified School District trustee election can file his declaration of candidacy, incumbent Mrs. Roxana Blanks, Steven H. Sassoon and James R. Nielsen already having filed. A contest for the three seats is assured with the filing last Monday by Ralph Thompson, a Monterey attorney who lives in Hatton Field.

The election will be held on 16 April. One week earlier, 9 April, is the last day on which an application in writing may be made to the County Superintendent of Schools for an absentee ballot.

EVENTS

Anouilh

John Ralph Geddis and Francois Martin will offer the use of their Tantomount Theatre in Carmel Valley for a presentation of Jean Anouilh's "Le Voyageur Sans Bagages," on Saturday, 2 March.

The play, brought here by "Le Theatre des Rues," of San Francisco, and produced and directed by Claude Crennan, concerns a war veteran, suffering from amnesia, and a family who recognize him as their son—a "Siegfried" theme treated by Anouilh with pathos and comedy.

"Le Voyageur" will be presented under the auspices of L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula, with the co-sponsorship of Monterey Peninsula College, the Monterey and Carmel high schools, the Army Language School and the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

Michel Sciamma, cultural attache to the French consulate general in San Francisco, will be here for the performance, which will include Jacques de la Ferriere, consul general-adjoint, and Louis Vorns, vice-consul, in the cast.

Tickets for "Le Voyageur Sans Bagages" may be obtained at the Bookhouse, 590 Calle Principal, Monterey, FR 3-1107. Proceeds will benefit L'Alliance Francaise scholarships, awarded annually to outstanding students of French in Monterey Peninsula schools.

GOVERNMENT

Sacramento

The bill introduction period of January having passed, and action of most bills now being possible, the feathers are beginning to fly and the rancorous smoke to curl in hot debate around the more than 6,000 measures piled on the desks of harried senators and assemblymen.

The Governor's tax-withholding program, subject of scathing opposition and rapturous support will hold headlines for some time. Recently, the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce clobbered it with a resolution of opposition, and is currently urging everyone else to do the same.

Senator Fred S. Farr and Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee are working together to get Public Law 78, the Mexican contract labor law, extended by Congress.

"The demand in agriculture for temporary workers is still greater than the domestic supply," says Farr, and in spite of opposition from labor unions and various ethical groups, such as the Emergency Committee to Aid Farm Workers, which includes sponsors Carl Sandburg, John Steinbeck, and Steve Allen, Farr and Pattee are pushing hard, even though they acknowledge residual problems, such as education and housing deficiencies, which make the use of peon labor at times embarrassingly unpretty.

Farr and Pattee have also stated their opposition to the absurd and illogical Burton bill, which tries to stretch the frayed and contentious patchwork blanket of party politics to cover county and city government as bedfellows of state and local government. It would require candidates for local offices—councilmen, clerks, etc.—and county supervisors to run under party designations. "We'll have none of it," says Farr and Pattee. While the measure may clear the Assembly it will never pass the Senate, expert observers believe.

The two Monterey County legislators, either separately or together, are also sponsoring legislation to establish a state lottery, raise the minimum age for drivers to 18 years, lower the minimum age for enrollment of pupils in the first grade, and have undertaken a feasibility study of a controlled access highway east of the Coast highway, inland and generally parallel to that scenic route. The idea, being urged by Farr's proposed resolution, is the brainchild of Chester Coulter of Carmel.

Mardi Gras

L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula will sponsor its second annual Mardi Gras dinner dance on Tuesday at the Casa Munras in Monterey. Preliminary plans for the affair were made by Mrs. Jerome Carlson, president of the Alliance, before she left for Mexico at the beginning of the year, and the arrangements were then taken over by Mrs. James L. Hathaway and Jean Gabriel.

A French dinner at 8 p.m. will be followed by entertainment: Kyra Ivanovsky's troupe of dancers; dancers Renee Wurmann and Kathy Finch who will interpret the cancan; a sketch entitled "The Cat and the Girl," a "scenette" enacted by Raymond Surdez and Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Kissel of the Army Language School; and Lucille Ray, who will play her accordion.

There will be a grand parade of those who choose to come in costume and masks, and prizes will be awarded. The Casa Munras orchestra will also play for dancing throughout the evening.

All Francophiles and their friends are urged to attend the dinner dance, but everyone is welcome. Reservations may be secured by telephoning William Cano, MA 4-4653; Jean Gabriel, FR 3-1107; Mrs. James Hathaway, FR 2-1138; Mrs. Robert Clappett, MA 4-8100; Mrs. Germaine Olivie, MA 4-7113; and at the Patisserie Boissiere, MA 4-5008.

Lecturer-in-Residence

John Mason Brown, lecturer, author and critic, will arrive at Monterey Peninsula College on Monday, 4 March, to be MPC's fourth visiting lecturer-in-residence.

On Friday, 8 March, the final night of his week's stay, he will give a public lecture, "Seeing Things," at 8 p.m. in the Armory.

Free tickets to Brown's discussion of the present-day world as reflected in plays, books and films may be obtained by addressing a request to the Evening Division and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. This should be done before 5 March. After that, if any tickets remain, they may be picked up at the MPC administration building. There is a limit of four tickets for each request.

Brown, a judge of the Book-of-the-Month Club and an editor-at-large of The Saturday Review, who has spoken at MPC before, is the author of 17 books, among them "Modern Theater in Revolt," "Two on the Aisle," and "Accustomed As I Am."

He has written innumerable magazine articles and reviews as former drama critic for The Saturday Review, the New York World-Telegram and New York Post, and is now working on a biography of the late Robert Sherwood.

Following a pattern set by philosopher Sidney Hook, writer James Baldwin and anthropologist Margaret Mead as lecturers-in-residence at MPC, Brown will spend his week at the college visiting classes, conferring with faculty and students and attending social functions planned in his honor.

CRIME

A Flight of Money

The Carmel Police Department were just relaxing after the last few weeks of storm and a rash of minor thefts when business reopened with a crash Wednesday morning.

At Harry Glem's Mobiloil Service Station, San Carlos and 7th, all was serene until about 9:30 a.m. when Glem, returning to the front office from the work shop, spotted an ink stamping pad lying in the driveway.

He bent to retrieve it and then noticed a scattered trail of papers, pencils and general litter leading to the sidewalk. Whirling around, he then saw something else: his cash register was gone. That's correct, the whole money machine.

Someone had quietly picked up the very heavy cash register, containing many credit cards amongst other things, presumably placed it in a nearby car and gone on his way. Grand theft and spring weather came to Carmel in one day.

With a service station on each corner and moderately heavy traffic in the area, it is odd that the theft was not seen. Carmel is famed for many peculiarities, but to have a man walk along unnoticed with a cash register under his arm brings nonchalance to the peak.

By Wednesday evening the local Hawkshaws had a suspect in custody, but were forced to release him for lack of evidence. They are working on the case with all the tools of their trade as they certainly do not want to start the New Year losing a decision in a case of grand theft.

Mr. Glem's losses upon complete checking amounted to $80.00 in cash, $400.00 in credit cards, the pink slip to a customer's car, the cost of the register itself, about $275.00, and various valuable keys and papers. The loss is not covered by his insurance as no gun was used nor was the station broken into.

Turn Signals

Conversion of turn signals from white to amber on pre-1963 model automobiles is a violation of the vehicle code section which provides that no device which modifies the original design or performance of any lighting equipment may be installed unless first approved by the California Highway Patrol, Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden has stated.

The commissioner said that the appearance of amber turn signals as a stock item on 1963 model cars has prompted some owners of earlier models to undertake conversions to amber.

FRANCIS WHITAKER: A Sturdy Enigma And A Resolute Force Departing

BY JACK MORRIS

Francis Whitaker, who has announced his intent to resign from the City Council, with principles as firm and unyielding as his chosen material of craftsmanship, has also made a firm and unyielding decision to leave Carmel, which has been his home for the past 33 years.

Aspen, Colorado, his selection of locale for his new residence, is a combined ski resort and cultural center 8000 feet above sea level. Mr. Whitaker, in effect, is trading the sea and the shore for the mountains and the snow. The cultural aspect of Aspen will soon feel his impact as he intends to carry on with his ornamental iron work.

With the physique of the traditional smithy, his long striding figure clad in the rough clothing of his trade going rapidly from place to place in Carmel has typified the man.

He has looked just as rugged and uncompromising as he actually was. Often a thorn in the side of some of the stuffer councilmen — forgive us the phrase — he has also been often a rock in the shoe of the council itself.

Almost single handedly he led the fight for the removal of the Carmel-San Simeon highway from the state freeway plan and while the Point Lobos League had much to do with this action and stood solidly behind him, the fact is that he was the driving force.

Admitting that not much could now be done about the northern gateway to Carmel with its foolish looking interchanges, he has concentrated upon preserving the scenic beauty of the southern approaches to Carmel. He was so deeply interested in retaining the natural beauty of Old Carmel and so involved as a committeeman in so many groups working to keep control of the coastwise development that it is a wonder he had time at all to keep the fire hot in his forge.

He will be sorely missed by friend and political foe alike, and to say that things will not be the same with Francis Whitaker gone from the scene may be trite, but nothing can change that stark fact.

He will not be here and things will not be the same. He used to leave here to go ski at Aspen during the season. Perhaps when he is in residence at Aspen he will leave there to run on Carmel's beach once more.

GOVERNMENT

The Power Idea

Under the title "Power, Politics, and People," Oxford University Press will publish on 21 March the collected essays of the late C. Wright Mills whom the editor of the volume, Irving L. Horowitz, in his introduction calls "the greatest sociologist the United States has ever produced."

The essays are grouped around four central aspects of Mills's thought. First is the concept of power. Second is the matter of politics, especially the long-term implications of liberalism and conservatism, and liberalism and Marxism. Third is the question of people. Mills was fascinated by human society and wrote a number of articles and essays on love and marriage, the dilemma of the modern city, and the problems of today's intellectual. Finally, there is a section that presents Mills's important contributions to the sociology of knowledge.

At the time of his death in March, 1962, C. Wright Mills was associate professor of Sociology at Columbia University and widely recognized both here and abroad as one of the most stimulating critics of modern civilization.

Pony League

The Board of Directors of the Carmel Pony League held their first meeting last Monday night at the Carmel Junior High School cafeteria and elected their officers for the 1963 season: President — Max Feuerman; V. Pres. & Equipment Manager — Jim Pullen; Secretary — Capt. W. H. Pellett; Treasurer — George Macy; Ass't Secty — Ralph Thompson; Director of Umpires — Van King; Director of Publicity — Bob Baugh. Feuerman said he hoped to open the season during the first week of May, but at this time the schedule has not been completed.

The Carmel Pony league is composed of six teams with 14 boys on each team falling in the 13 to 14-year age bracket. The boys play on a 60-foot diamond, instead of the regulation 90-foot, under the National League interpretation of the Baseball Rule Book.

Kar Show

The ninth annual Kar Kapades, a blazingly colorful carnival of custom-built automobiles, antique cars and racing boats will be held at the Monterey County Fairgrounds from the 1st to the 3rd of March. The extravagant display of hot rods, sports cars, dragsters and American ingenuity is sponsored by Slowpokes, Incorporated, of Monterey.

Bedazzled spectators will see Bill Cushenbery's flamboyant "Silhouette," a $15,000 custom car, and a special display of boats in various stages of construction.

Sports Cars

BY ED LESLIE

We used to go racing on the weekend. I knew how to take off the windscreen, change the muffler for a straight exhaust and stick on my shelf-paper numerals, all in about 20 minutes.

But later on things got competitive and we started balancing engine parts and changing gear ratios, experimenting with racing tire treads, etc. Then, about 1959, a small word became very important in the sports car competitor's mind. It appeared near the end of the S.C.C.A. book of competition rules. It said, "OPTIONS: Only the following approved manufacturer's options may be used on a production racing car."

Within the year "options" included bigger carburetors (they are cheap), racing camshaft ($60), competition shocks and springs. Imported car sales slid down the graph next year and the major sports car manufacturers had only the steady sports car market to rely on. It became very important for Porsche, B.M.C., Triumph, et al, to supply the U.S. enthusiast with whatever options were necessary to enable their product to do best in races, hillclimbs, and rallies. It paralleled the 1956-60 horsepower race in U.S. sedans, except that there were rules laid down each year to control the items you could use for more power and handling.

And today? WOWIE!

As the snail exclaimed, while riding the turtle in Gus Arriola's comic strip, "It makes your eyes water!"

I find pages of legal items that I am privileged to purchase to go racing. Production racing has been greatly changed this year, and the edge will go to the best mechanic, when the driving is equal, since the rules now allow much modification to existing parts for more power, and handling. Still, the "options" are there, and you must have them to run up in the front of the pack.

Les Popple and Ed Eagling, from Continental Auto Repair on Cannery Row, own the service department for the Triumph agency here. To prove their worth, and to satisfy many years of Triumph interest, they are carefully reassembling our fully "prodified" TR-4. We have "gone the route," so to speak, and you might be interested in how it is done.

First, we chose an overdrive-equipped TR-4, to get the extra good from a choice of 7 forward speeds instantly available with the electric shifting. We chose white as a color as it is easy to match up after car and gravel damage. The black interior may show less abuse. We bought the steel, wide-based rims to take wide, low profile Goodyear racing tires. We exchanged the shocks and the front springs for stiffer, competition types. We added traction-master bars to keep the differential from winding itself up on the rear springs. We put in the "optional" Detroit Gear No-Spin locking differential. We reversed the turn-signal and overdrive switches on the steering column so that the left hand could work the o.d. while the right hand shifted the gear lever.

Then the engine came out and was carefully checked. The bore was honed out to give about 8 thou. clearance to the pistons. All moving parts were machined to lightest weights, magnafluxed, balanced, etc. Much attention was given to the weight of the valve train, special "optional" cam followers, etc. The cam is a race type designed by Kastner of Triumph to give 6500 rpm power peaks. The bottoms of the pistons were trimmed and progressive wound valve springs inserted to insure valve seating and prohibit coil binding at speed. The water pump has blades removed for high speed pumping with no cavitation, clutch springs were beefed up 60 lbs. per spring, woven linings on the clutch disc insuring against its flying apart at high revs. The flywheel is machined to a 21-lb. weight for fast acceleration. Beautiful gas-flowed exhaust headers were installed, also some extra engine instruments to warn the driver of impending disaster.

Several nights of patient grinding on intake and exhaust ports produced glistening polished apertures of a size somewhat larger than normal. Les used his vacuum cleaner to suck out the metal as he ground away, and you should have hefted that vacuum bag when he finished!

With the compression increased considerably, with extra breathers installed on transmission and differential, with electric fuel pump and roll bar next to go in, the time is drawing close when Ed and Les will build up some oil pressure and turn on the key!

I hope I'm there to hear it. The rattle of loose-fitting parts will frighten us, I'm sure, but once warmed up we hope it will frighten the competition!

We'll keep you informed of the car's development, but if you are anxious or eager, drop down to 443 Wave Street now and see it go together. See you.

AFA Lecture

Theodore Hoffman, chairman of the Ford Foundation's Theatre Communication Group, will open a series of lectures concerning the world of the arts, sponsored by the American Federation of Arts. Subject is "The Theatre of the Immediate Future," place and time are the A.F.A. Headquarters Gallery on Lincoln Street, south of Ocean Avenue, Saturday at 8 p.m. The lecturer, former head of the department of drama at Carnegie Institute of Technology, is now visiting professor of drama at Stanford University.

The Unhappy Country

"In many respects the Soviet Union is neither a stable nor a happy country," writes Nicholas V. Riasanovsky near the end of "A History of Russia" which Oxford University Press will publish on 14 March.

"Moreover," the author continues, "its economy and society continue to evolve rapidly. Profound alterations in the very foundations of the Soviet system appear, therefore, likely in the not-too-distant future. But the problem of change in the Soviet Union has quite a special character. The leadership and the Party, which have a deadly grip on the country, will not relax it beyond a certain point, in any case not beyond the point of losing control. It is not even clear that they can afford to relax it much more than they already have since Stalin's death.

"In other words, the prospects of fundamental change by evolution remain severely limited. The alternative, revolution, while it certainly cannot be ruled out, must, for lack of evidence, be no more than sheer speculation at present. To conclude, the Soviet system is not likely to last, not likely to change fundamentally by evolution, and not likely to be overthrown by a revolution. History, to be sure, has a way of advancing even when that means leaving historians behind."

"A History of Russia" in 739 pages covers its subject from the very beginning, with a geographical note and a chapter on "Russia before the Russians." It carries the story to 1962. The book contains 32 pages of halftone illustrations, 30 line-drawing maps, and a four-color endpaper map.

Naval School

"Chicken Every Sunday," a comedy with a successful Broadway run 20 years ago, will be presented on two week ends, 1-2 and 8-9 March, in King Hall, by the Little Theatre group of the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School. Tickets are available locally at the Central Box Office in Carmel, and the proceeds will go to charity.

The play, set in Arizona in 1916, concerns the efforts of an enterprising housewife to keep herself and her husband, a man of many business ventures, financially solvent by turning their 11-room mansion into a boarding house.

Production manager is John Boles, and Don Hindorff will direct the play. The cast includes Charlotte Maas, Ralph Spaulding, Jef Short, Louise Williamson, Gig Conaughton, Mimi Brown, Joani Baldwin, Jean and Mike Boles, Peter Liepman, Peggy Webster, Elmer Gipson, Ervin Ames, Dianne Greenhalgh, Richard Ligon, Mallie Moore, and Wendy Dorsky.

Keaton Film

"Sherlock, Jr.," a Buster Keaton classic film first released in 1924, is the 1 March offering of the Monterey Peninsula College Theater Arts Group, according to Philip Chamberlin, MPC evening division director.

In order to accommodate a large audience and to allow parents to bring children to the showing, the film will be screened in the Armory rather than in the music hall, usual locale for MPC film showings.

There will be two screenings: one at 7 p.m., the other at 9. Children will be admitted to the earlier showing only, and parents are urged to take them home after a break preceding the showing of two short films which are not recommended for children.

No tickets will be required for this film.

A completely silent film.

"Sherlock, Jr." is considered by many Keaton aficionados to be his best feature. Starting director on the film was Fatty Arbuckle, Keaton's long-time friend who at that time was down and out because of a scandal. Arbuckle couldn't get along with the cast, so Keaton got him another job directing a Marion Davies musical and directed the balance of "Sherlock, Jr." himself.

The two accompanying shorts are "Night and Fog," Alain Resnais' half-hour masterpiece, and "Dom," a grand prizewinner at Brussels.

Art Association

Judging of applicants for membership in the Carmel Art Association is on the agenda of the board of directors' meeting on Monday, 11 March.

Requirements for active membership in the association include a completed application showing one year's residence within a 35-mile radius of Carmel.

The applicant must also submit drawings and three paintings or sculptured pieces produced within the past two years.

"Rigoletto"

"Rigoletto," produced by the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater, will be given Saturday evening, 2 March, in Sunset School auditorium, as the fourth presentation of the Carmel Music Society in its 1962-63 concert series.

Boris Goldovsky, well known for his Metropolitan Opera broadcast, "Opera News on the Air," has supervised this production of an English translation of Verdi's opera, which will be presented by a company of 50, including a distinguished cast, orchestra and chorus.

Young Painter

On view upstairs at the Artists' Guild of America Gallery, Ocean Avenue and Monte Verde Street, are eight watercolors and four pastels by Pam Dixon Hadley, young Carmel artist with an individual approach.

Three of the paintings—"Still Life," gay with yellows and reds; "Point Lobos," full of action and rich blue-greens; and "Garden Mushrooms," delicate, precise, almost Oriental in feeling—are outstanding. A large pastel of a nude has a Gauguin-like warmth of color; three small pastels of a young child, in muted tones, have great charm. All are worth seeing, for their freshness and variety.

Pam, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vernon Dixon of Francisco, lived in Carmel as a child. Apart from classes at San Mateo College and San Francisco State College, she has had no formal art study, but says, "I have had great encouragement from Donald Teague—my favorite watercolorist—and Al Parker."

Commercial art and decorating furniture are two other interests; and she teaches a children's painting class of five-to-12-year-olds, and also adults. Married to Daryl Hadley, Pam is the mother of two small children, Damon, two years old, and Heidi, eight months.

Maxwell Show

From 26 February to 17 March, an extensive show of the paintings of flowers and airy landscapes of Laura W. Maxwell, a distinguished pioneer Carmel artist, will be hung at the Laky Galleries on San Carlos Street.

Miss Maxwell is widely known for her floral paintings, marines, and landscapes. Her well disciplined brush is based on solid art training at Julian's in Paris; Peters-Bancroft in New York; the Boston School of Design; and sketching summers in America and Europe.

The unusual background of her paintings is filled mostly with silk, draperies, and porcelain, with the striking brilliancy of shiny red or blue. Her main subject, flowers, is excellently characterized both in shapes and color.

She was one of the earliest members of the Carmel Art Association, and served frequently as a member of its Board of Directors.

Radio Station KIDD has opened a Carmel studio in La Playa Hotel under the local direction of Paul Ransom. The Pine Cone's Monday through Friday nightly program at 7:00 o'clock, "The Editor's Window," featuring editor-publisher Larry Rose, will originate in the new studio, where other local programs will also be produced.

RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED: Sarah Anderson, Ruhe Linn, and Margaret Gibbons, well known former proprietors of The Blue Bird and Le Gourmet et les Cadeaux, are shown mounted on camels in Egypt. For good and sufficient reasons which have nothing to do with earning a merit badge.

Rather than shower them with encumbering and useless bon voyage gifts, a Carmelite sent them on their recently-commenced tour of Europe with a draft on a Cairo bank, and specific instructions: they were to board a Cairo bus (No. 8) and proceed to the pyramids for a camel ride — and send back a photograph proving compliance with his wishes.

Also sent back to prove complete accord with his frisky and friendly whims: the stub of the bus ticket and one highly-perfumed Egyptian cigarette to show good faith in buying the package he ordered. And since the expense of the project did not come out exactly even — one penny in change.

In Short, The Piano

Soon to be published by the Syracuse University Press is a book by Ernst Bacon, composer in Residence at the University, entitled "Notes on the Piano." Carmel's first Bach Festival, a three-day event in 1935, was conducted by Ernest Bacon.

"This is a book to be nibbled," he states in his introduction. "Open it wherever you like, for its thought is not successive nor cumulative. It consists of notes gathered by the way of music-making."

"The piano is my point of departure. I go out from it into music, and then again return to the piano, laying on it the parental burdens of the art."

"I intend to divulge no secrets, but I will speak much of working habits, listening habits, playing habits; and hint at profitable devices for self-encouragement, even for advantageous self-deception, in the business of learning."

"In short, the book is about the piano in music, or music in the piano. I can't say which the more."

The book's five sections are entitled, "The Performer," "The Learner," "The Player and Writer," "The Observer," and "Technically Speaking," a chapter on the mechanics of playing, written for the

Letters To The Editor

BETTER MOVIES

Dear Sir:

I was disappointed to read in the Pine Cone of 31 January that the new motion picture theater planned for Carmel has "passed out of existence." It might, by giving competition to the Golden Bough, have brought back to Carmel the top-flight movies we used to be able to count on.

Now, for a long time, we have been given the second rate, second run pictures which makes me feel that United California Theaters underestimates the potential audience in Carmel who I am sure wants to see the best. For example, as far as I know, none of the following films have been shown in Carmel. (The first ten are the N. Y. Times selection as best of the year. The others are of the same class.)

A few have been seen at the State and the Steinbeck, which in general get better films than Carmel. I know I am speaking for many of our residents in asking serious piano student, that is astonishingly rewarding for the lay listener.

if there is any way of urging U.C.T. to experiment with giving us an opportunity to see the best of the year's films: "Lover Come Back," "Last Year at Marienbad," "Whistle Down the Wind," "A Taste of Honey," "Divorce—Italian Style," "The Longest Day," "Long Day's Journey into Night," "Sundays and Cybele," "Freud," "Electra," "Phaedra," "Lawrence of Arabia," "David and Lisa," "To Kill a Mockingbird," "Mutiny on the Bounty."

Yours very truly,
Anne Barretto
(Mrs. Larry Barretto)

(Editor's Comment:

As you can see from the front page story, there's still hope, Mrs. Barretto, for you and other Carmelites with discerning tastes.)

BOOK BLAST

Dear Sir:

I have noticed that the County Library is extremely slow in servicing the library here in Carmel. A period, between the time the Carmel library orders the book and receives it from the County, of four to six months is not unusual, and I have known it to stretch to nine months, as long as pregnancy.

Most of the books obtained through the County are titles for which the reader's interest and appetite have been aroused through ads and reviews in newspapers and magazines on hand in the Carmel library, and the slackness referred to above can be as irritating as it seems unprofessional. As a reader of The Pine Cone I would be pleased to find you taking an interest.

Specifically, the other libraries on the peninsula are much more on their toes about current books. By this I mean that they get their books immediately, or almost immediately, after publication, while, too often, before the same books arrive at the Carmel library it is a matter of months.

The main problem at the Carmel library seems to be that the County is not doing a good job in meeting the Carmel library's requests. This situation has been accepted locally for so long that I feel rather foolish in protesting. Nevertheless, I believe that it—acceptable perhaps in King City or Alisal—should not be tolerated in Carmel.

Yours truly,
Hugh Ezmes

ASH WEDNESDAY

On Ash Wednesday, 27 February, there will be a union service of Carmel Presbyterian Church, the Church of the Wayfarer, and All Saints' Episcopal Church at All Saints' at 8 p.m. Union services have been held for the past five or six years as the annual observance of Ash Wednesday. The custom is for one of the churches to serve as host, and another to secure the guest speaker. The Reverend David Hill and the Reverend Peter Farmer will conduct the service. Robert Forbes, organist and choirmaster, will direct the All Saints' Choir.

Guest preacher for this Ash Wednesday service will be the Reverend Dr. Cary N. Weisiger, III, pastor of the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Weisiger, a graduate of Princeton University in the class of 1931, spent three years in India, teaching at the Allahabad Christian College, also served one year and eight months as honorary superintendent of the Naini Loper Home. After securing his Th. B. from the Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, he served as pastor in three churches in Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Georgia. Muskingum College awarded him his Doctor of Divinity degree in 1950. Between 1948 and 1961, he was pastor of the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Weisiger traveled around the world in 1955, preaching and visiting in Egypt, the Sudan, Ethiopia, Pakistan, India and Japan. As a member of the general council of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States, Dr. Weisiger also was moderator of the Pittsburgh Presbytery in 1960, and served as a member of the committee on consultation on church union in 1962. He has been at the Menlo Park church since 1961.

Dr. Weisiger is being entertained on his Carmel visit by his cousin, Mrs. Gerrit Henry.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The divine source of man's intelligence will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" to be heard at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

From the Bible this passage will be read (James 1:5): "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him."

Correlative readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this sentence (p. 506): "Spirit, God, gathers unformed thoughts into their proper channels, and unfolds these thoughts, even as He opens the petals of a holy purpose in order that the purpose may appear."

The Golden Text is from Proverbs (3:5): "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding."

CARMELO 4-H CLUB NEWS

By JOHN H. JACOBY

On 11, February, the Carmelo 4-H Club held its annual local demonstration night. A demonstration is an individual telling and showing some portion of what he has learned in one of his projects.

Twenty-six of the members participated in giving individual and team demonstrations. All were excellent. The Judges, Mrs. John Briggs and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Ford, weighed the qualities of each, and appropriate ribbons were presented.

Blue ribbons were awarded to the following: Wendy Ambrosio, Clayton Carter and Bob Whiteman, Donna Carter, Tommy Crow, Lee Ann Dahle and Sally McKenzie, Tania Granoff, Shannon Gregory, Hazel B. Jacoby, John H. Jacoby, Bill Muscutt, Dawn Powers, Janet Powers, John Vanetti.

Winners of red ribbons were: Martha Crow, Christine Dawson, Jean Ann Friddle and Ned Orrett, Candy Gregory.

White ribbons were awarded to: Patti Brinsmead and Kathy Harbert, Marsha Dahle, Marjorie Ingraham and Nancy Meadows, Nancy Otter.

The projects taken in 4-H are grouped into categories. The individual and the team whose demonstration was considered best in each category was designated a county competitor. These members will compete against winners of similar competitions from the other clubs in Monterey County.

Those who will be going to the Monterey County Competition at Gonzales on 23 March are: Clayton Carter and Bob Whiteman, as a team; Donna Carter, Tommy Crow, Shannon Gregory, Hazel B. Jacoby, John H. Jacoby, Bill Muscutt, Dawn Powers and John Vanetti, as individuals.

ORDINANCE NO. 59 C. S.
AN ORDINANCE CHANGING REQUIREMENTS WITH RESPECT TO SURFACING OF PARK STRIP OR SIDEWALK AREA IN THE R-1 DISTRICT.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That Section 1214 of the Municipal Code be, and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 1214. In connection with the surfacing of any park strip or sidewalk area in the R-1 District, there shall be a planting area of not less than 25% of the total park strip or sidewalk area, not more than half of which may be in the form of a strip adjacent to the property line, and not less than two feet in width. A four foot wide pedestrian way, parallel to the street line or property line along all of the property frontage, shall be left in all cases. These provisions shall apply unless special permission to vary this requirement be granted by the City Council upon written application."

Section 2. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

I, L. D. ROSE, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 59 C. S. which was given its first reading at a Regular Meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, held on the 9th day of January, 1963, and finally adopted at a Regular Meeting of the said Council on the 6th day of February, 1963.

I further certify that upon its passage, the foregoing ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 14th day of February, 1963.

Beginning at the point of intersection of the dividing line between Lots 1 and 2, in Block FF with the north line of Ocean Avenue, as said dividing line, lots, block and avenue are shown on the abovementioned map; thence from said point of beginning west

WHERE THERE'S LIFE

BY ANDRE HOPE

Last week I got all wound up concerning things one could build a home around and gave myself an idea. Every room in our house has a garden vista. This was not so when we first bought it; so it was planned for people looking in. Thank goodness we have neutral walls and drapes, because the garden is beginning to creep into the house. I find myself adding more things to go with the tender-green and Monterey cypress blue-green, pine grey-green and the ever-changing sky-blues and fog mist.

And what is the color of February in your color book? "Color it confusing." One of the loveliest homes I have ever seen done in this manner was a remodeled stable within a garden, surrounding a garden. It was decorated in at least six subtle shadings of green with a sudden splash of brilliant color here and there, as though a tropical flower had unexpectedly burst into bloom overnight.

Following this line of thought, there is an old-fashioned idea made suddenly new; decorating for the seasons. Great-grandmother (grand-mama danced the Charleston, which we keep forgetting) made the house liveable and somewhat chintzy by summer for relaxed living. In the winter, back to the antimacassars and brocades: teas, fetes and formal entertaining. Of course these do not generally apply in our years, but the idea is still a sound one. I would like to spend more time on this happy thought, so why don't you start thinking about what the colors of spring-summer and fall-winter mean to you, and next week we can have more fun with the happy thought.

What are the nicest things on which you like to dwell when lonely, dreaming, sad, remembering or suddenly inspired? A nice way to spend a relaxed moment instead of worrying about taxes, bunions, the price of onions, skinned knees, Carmel's disappearing trees and the industrialization of our county?

Do you find comfort in a closet of linen spiced with old-fashioned lavender—the scent of steam from Jasmine tea—a lovely-ly formed bit of driftwood on the beach you never expected to find—candlelight in someone's window when you are walking a dark street—contented sighing from children; trees, breezes, puppies, the tides, yourself after good music, good food or a gentle word from a friend

Costa, his wife, dated December 11, 1961, recorded December 15, 1961, in the office of the Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, in Book 2212 of Official Records, at page 303.

First Great-Grandchild

Robert G. Leidig, long-time Carmel resident, has just become a proud great-grandfather for the first time. Robert M. Leidig, Mr. Leidig's grandson, and his wife, Becky, became the parents of a son, Curtis Martin, on 5 February in Quantico, Virginia, where Bob is stationed with the United States Marine Corps.

Curtis Martin is also a first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Roberts of Carmel, and has two uncles, Ted Leidig, a freshman at Oregon State University, and Kim Roberts, a ninth grader at Carmel Junior High School.

The baby's father, a native Carmelite, went through Sunset School and Carmel High School, and graduated from Oregon State, where Becky was also a student.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Gray of Corvallis, Oregon, are the baby's maternal grandparents.

New Carmel Resident

Mrs. Grace Welch of San Francisco has come to Carmel to make her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Whitney.

Mrs. Welch is a true native daughter who was born on Rincon Hill in San Francisco, present site of the Rincon Hill post office and western anchor for the Oakland-Bay Bridge.

U R P

Harassed radiomagnate (KIDD) Robert Sherry, contemplating the bewildering profusion of organizations and societies which spring up, boil forth and run over in a surfeit of causes to be supported and causes to be denied (VAMP, SCRAMP, CRAMP, LAMP, MAP), has finally taken the ultimate refuge: he is chartering his own, and expects to find every public-spirited citizen pounding at his door. Its name: SLOP. (Society to Limit Organizations on the Peninsula.)

New Grandson For Kochers

Mrs. R. A. Kocher of Carmel Highlands returned last week from Berkeley where she has been visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell (Sibyl Kocher), and getting acquainted with her new grandson, Derek Lawrence Mitchell, who was born 5 February, and joins an older brother, Ian Nicholas, who was one year old in December.

Dr. and Mrs. Kocher now have four grandchildren. The other two, Terry Harner, 10, and her brother, Jimmy, eight, are the children of the Kochers' older daughter, Mrs. June Harner, who also lives in Berkeley.

More February Babies

Four new babies born recently at the Community Hospital have joined families in and around Carmel.

A daughter, Nancy Jeanette, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Batten of Carmel on 10 February.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Thorson of Carmel became the parents of a son, James Vincent, on 10 February.

A son was born on 11 February to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Martin of Carmel.

Irene and Billy Klein, aged six and four, welcomed a little sister, Rebecca, on 12 February. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Klein of El Bosque Drive, Pebble Beach.

Abe Asleep

Old Abe Lincoln's recent birthday party must have been fatiguing. The newest ac postcard carries a very candid portrait of the weary gentleman, very much asleep.

Girl Scouts Cookie Sale

The Girl Scouts' annual cookie sale will begin on Friday and will continue through 9 March. Girl Scouts and Brownies will sell cookies in the residential area in and around Carmel during this time, and on 9 March will sell from tables and along the sidewalks in the business district. All proceeds from the sale will go into the operating budget of the local Girl Scout Council to finance scout programs.

Four types of cookies, as well as peanuts, will be offered this year: vanilla and cinnamon in the same box; butternut roundup and cookie mints. All are of excellent quality and are wrapped so that they may be frozen.

Troop chairmen are: Troop 158, Mrs. Everett De Costa; troop 69, Mrs. Walter L. Norwick; troop 63, Mrs. Hugh E. Smith; troop 35, Mrs. Joseph E. McEldowney; troop 118, Mrs. Milton Eagleton; troop 84, Mrs. Joseph Donnelly; troop 114, Mrs. Thomas G. Tousey Jr.; troop 28, Mrs. Barbara Johnson; troop 121, Mrs. James B. O'Brien. Mrs. William S. Griffith is neighborhood chairman for Carmel.

Sic

Among the recent honeymooning couples at the Pine Inn were a Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Garside, of San Francisco.

They have gone to La Jolla to complete their vacation.

How Untidy

A recent speaker at the regular Thursday luncheon of the Carmel Kiwanis Club said that a good Kiwanian is the sort of person who leaves a little bit of himself wherever he goes.

"Rags to Riches"

Beads, baubles and bows, a vacuum cleaner, a lawnmower, a bicycle, an accordion—something for everyone's purse and fancy is promised by members of the Littlebits Chapter of the Children's Home Society at their "Rags to Riches" rummage sale on Saturday, 2 March, from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at Crespi Hall, Carmel Mission Basilica.

All proceeds from the sale are for the benefit of the Children's Home Society, which has served as a statewide adoptive agency since 1891. The Monterey Office at 499 Van Buren, Monterey, FR 3-3239 has a staff of two case workers and an office secretary. Inquiries are welcome from natural parents who wish to place children for adoption, and from prospective adoptive parents.

Friends of the Children's Home Society who wish to donate articles (anything and everything) to the sale may call chairman Mrs. Donald W. Schma, MA 4-3219 or co-chairman Mrs. A. T. Crampton, MA 4-7401. Immediate pick-up service is promised.

Scholarships

Thirty Monterey Peninsula College students — 21 women, nine men — were awarded $50 ASMPPC scholarships this week. Mrs. Marjorie Marshall, MPC director of student services, announced today.

The awards, drawn from $1500 set aside annually by the college's Associated Students "to encourage scholarship," went to 19 freshmen and 11 sophomores who had achieved placement on the fall, 1962, dean's list with high grade point averages, and fulfilled certain other eligibility requirements.

The recipients, listed in order of grade point average, include Carmel and Carmel Valley students Susan Brandly, Sheila Robinson, Sharon Predmore, Linda Predmore, Ako Ito, Ronald Barker and Kathryn Duggan.

Among The Pines

Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Lloyd of Carmel have announced the engagement of their youngest daughter, Mardi, and Samuel F. B. Morse III.

Mardi, whose sisters are Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis of Menlo Park, and Mrs. John L. Williams of Carmel Valley, has one brother, Francis P. Lloyd of San Francisco. The late Francis E. Lloyd of Carmel and McGill University, Montreal, Canada, was her grandfather; Dr. David P. C. Lloyd of New York is her uncle. She graduated from Carmel schools and is attending California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo.

"Sammy," son of Mrs. Edna Marie Morse of La Jolla, and the late Major S. F. B. Morse, Jr., is a brother of Raymond Lee Kitchener, administrative head of the Theatrical Arts Department at the University of California at Los Angeles; Mrs. Edna Lewis Hoen of Carmel and Samuel F. B. Morse of Pebble Beach are his grandparents, and he is the nephew of Mrs. Kenneth S. Walker, Mrs. Richard Osborne and John Bolt Morse. He is also attending California Polytechnic College, where both will continue their studies following their wedding on 13 April.

Fritz Wins A Trip

Fritz Wurzmans won a contest. His office supply business in Monterey sold in this area the highest percentage of its quota (during the last quarter of 1962) of a certain line of steel furniture. The result: a telegram announcing a week's all-expenses-paid trip for two to Nassau.

Fritz decided not to pass this up. On 4 March he and Mrs. Wurzmans will be off to the Bahamas, and on their return trip will visit Washington, New York, and the Grand Rapids factory of the company which awarded the prize.

Daughters Renee and Andrea will keep house in the Wurzmans' Carmel home during their parents' two weeks vacation.

THE NATIONAL RIFLE ASSOCIATION teaches shooting safety

Believing that there is not enough know-how among the non-shooters in gun owning families, the National Rifle Association, in cooperation with the United States Public Health Service, Division of Accident Prevention, has developed a nationwide firearms safety training program to include Home Firearms Safety.

Taking into consideration hunting, target shooting, home protection and arms collecting, a home without at least one firearm is hard to find. On the other hand, ignorance of proper gun handling seems to be commonplace. To remedy this situation, and to reduce the number of firearms accidents, the NRA Home Firearms Safety Program, like its other safety programs, provides proper education and training in safe gun handling for every member of the family.

A complete packet of instructional material has been designed to assist local health departments, teachers, PTA groups, gun clubs, civic associations, police and fire departments, safety councils, etc., in conducting a Home Firearms Safety Course.

Among the 515,000 members of the NRA are nearly 30,000 Certified Marksmanship Instructors and 50,000 Hunter Safety Instructors who volunteer their services to teach firearms safety and marksmanship. These public-spirited citizens will be available to assist interested groups in conducting Home Firearms Safety courses in their communities.

Any individual or group desiring information on the new NRA Home Firearms Safety Program should write the Training Section, National Rifle Association, 1600 Rhode Island Avenue, Washington 6, D. C.

Commission spent months in examining a myriad of methods for removing the stagnating non-conforming onus from service stations. And after deciding that the overlay zone was the only plausible method, they dedicated an exhaustive amount of time to refining it to the highest possible degree of equity. But last night, as if this had not been so, the majority was willing to kiss off the whole elaborate structure because of quibbling details.

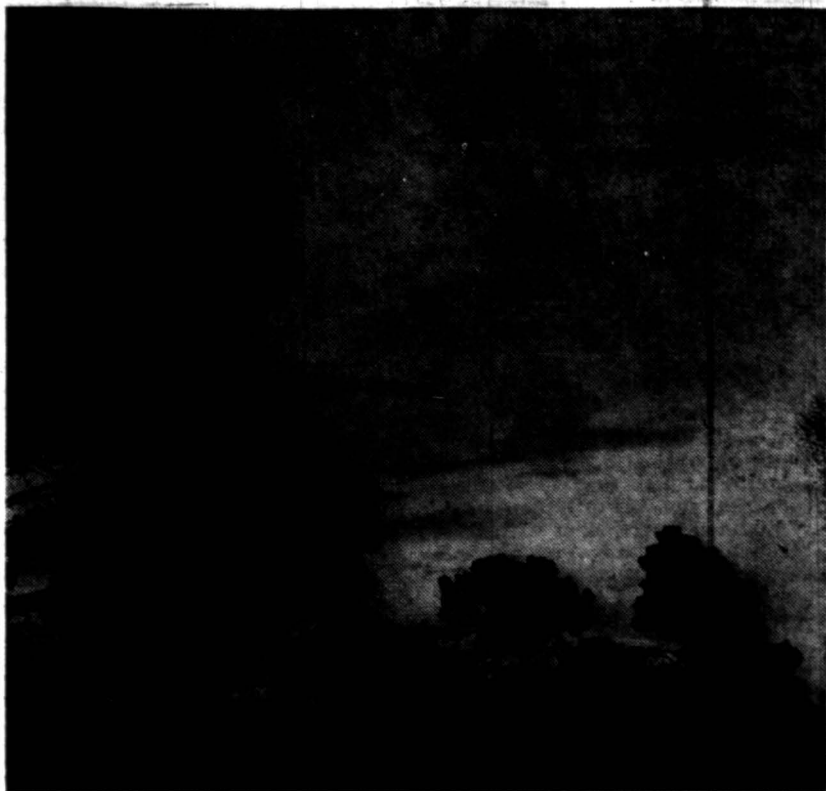

Forgetting for the time that they are politicians, and that politicians, if they are worthy of the name, are masters at compromise and extemporizing, Whittlesey, Blanks and Whitaker balked at the presence in the zone of one corner at Mission and 7th—perhaps shying at the shadow of a parking garage once proposed for the site.

Blanks, who gave evidence at the outset of favoring the measure, seemed bemused by three service stations in a row on Sixth Avenue, from San Carlos to Mission. He wanted to break them up, and through some wisdom understood only by himself, he apparently believed that defeating the ordinance would do it. "There must be some other way," he murmured. A former chairman of the Planning Commission, he should have been the first to recognize the improbability that there is.

The council, almost as if surprised by what they had done, and acting with evident chagrin, rushed the matter into the Committee on Public Welfare, to see what can be salvaged. When all of the rebuilding permits have been filed (and there are current wagers that Standard Oil will file to rebuild the Ocean Avenue station), the issue may have deteriorated into an academic exercise of diverting but useless pretensions.

There is a story about a man whose house was on fire. When the fire department arrived and dragged out their hoses to combat the flames, the man dashed up to the chief and said, "Just a minute, there! Are you sure that your method of fighting this fire is the best? Can you guarantee me perfect results?"

While they argued, the house burned down.

LAW IN ACTION

DISCOVERY

A trial with many surprises makes a good story on T.V. or in the movies. But surprise is not always the best way to get justice.

And so California law and courts have been moving away from the "game" or "sporting" theory of a trial towards a cards-face-up theory.

Since 1957 new rules of "discovery" have taken many surprises out of our trials. The rules allow each side to find out before trial what is likely to take place at the trial to speed up court business, prevent perjury and fraud, and encourage out-of-court settlements.

Under discovery rules all parties can be made to tell the other what they know before the case goes to trial. They do this by calling for the answers to questions, written or spoken. When these facts come out both parties often decide to settle then and there, without any trial.

Recently our courts enlarged the use of discovery to permit broad questioning of witnesses and inspection of documents on each side, such as accident reports, statements to insurance adjusters, reports to insurance men as well as medical and hospital records and the like.

Within wide limits the court can permit or deny one side or the other to ask questions or inspect records. It may deny "fishing expeditions" to look into all affairs of one party. The facts sought must bear upon the case.

In criminal cases, the law limits the scope of discovery. But the district attorney must produce the defendant's police and grand jury statements. His lawyer can read his statements in preparing for the trial.

Usually the accused also has a right to know the prosecuting witnesses and names of informers. He must make his own investigation, that is, he cannot look at the district attorney's investigation to try his case.

In a criminal case the defendant may refuse to talk or to turn over evidence his lawyer may not want to use in the trial. Anything the district attorney asks the defendant might incriminate him. So, under our Constitution, he need not answer such questions. Of course if he answers some questions, he may well have to answer other related questions.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

sion next Wednesday. Prepared by Carmel Architect George Wilcox, they contemplate an unusual treatment of the sloping site and an attractive exterior carrying out the mansard roof, French traditional theme so elegantly expressed in his recently-completed patisserie on Mission street, in the Carmel Plaza complex.

Graff, who managed the Golden Bough Theater for several years, has expressed earnest concern in operating a theater uniquely suited to Carmel tastes, and hopes to make the enterprise a focus of community activities.

Urban Renewal

$1,000,000 already spent on land acquisition, and how it will meet the additional $500,000 in present commitments. Of necessity, it would seem, the city must give itself preference, and the contest between Weinberg and Draper Companies must be resolved on a priority basis.

POLITICS

Giant Half-Truth

Senator Clair Engle has sponsored a "Truth in Packaging" bill in Congress, which would require manufacturers to print the net weight of a product on the front panel of packages, without embellishment. "It will eliminate such absurdities as the 'giant half-quart'," he says. Engle has no comment on the desirability of a companion bill requiring truth in packaging by politicians, fearful perhaps that it would eliminate too many giant absurdities, the stock in trade of congressmen.

Both Engle and Senator Thomas H. Kuchel have teamed up on legislation to provide for Federal entry into the smog suppression field, via loans and grants to local and state governments. A similar bill by Senator Abraham Ribicoff (D-Conn.) attempts to set forth enforcement policies, which Engle's bill does not.
